ABOUT INTERNATIONAL SUMMER SCHOOL

Summer schools are an integral part of the mission of School of Environment (SOE), Tsinghua University to promote cross-cultural communication and global connections. They provide a valuable platform for students across the globe to better connect with China, academically and culturally, and to expand their horizons. Alongside the interdisciplinary-focused International Summer School, SOE hosts many subject-orientated summer schools that enable students to hone in on their learning and connect with professors and peers in environmental field.
